Senate Kills Bill For Hospital Sweepstakes Canada Will Have No Lotteries to Get Money For The Ill

Six Months' Hoist Given Barnard Measure by Second Chamber, 34 to 22, To-day; Thus Bill Does Not Go to Commons for Consideration

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—The Hospital Sweepstakes Bill was killed for this session in the Senate this afternoon when an amendment giving the bill a six months' hoist was carried by a vote of 34 to 22. The vote cut party lines, both House leaders voting for the amendment.

The bill, a private measure introduced in the Senate by Senator G. H. Barnard of Victoria, B.C., would have made it legal for hospitals to conduct sweepstakes with the consent of the Attorney-General of any province.

The six months' hoist was moved by Sir George Foster, who yesterday spoke against any scheme of sweepstakes for hospitals.

CONVENTION OF HOTELMEN PAYS VICTORIA VISIT

More Than 400 Members of Hotel Greeters of America in Town To-day

Over 400 hotel clerks, managers and proprietors, who attended the Hotel Greeters of America convention which finished in Vancouver yesterday, arrived in Victoria early this afternoon on the steamer Princess Alice. They were here only a few hours, and after seeing the sights and taking in the races, returned soon after 5 o'clock to Vancouver. The party will break up on reaching Vancouver, many delegates taking the Canadian National Alaska trip and the rest returning to their homes in different parts of Canada and the United States.

The first item on the programme for the delegates was lunch in the Empire Hotel ballroom. Short speeches were made by the various officials, after which the party boarded a number of Gray Line buses and went sightseeing.

Among those who arrived to-day were A. F. Straifora, New Orleans, the national president; M. E. Rowley, Denver, the national secretary, and Fred W. Rowe, chairman of the Vancouver convention committee. Also on the boat in an official capacity was George I. Warren, managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The Hotel Greeters of America have four chartered organizations in Canada. They are Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto. Other organizations stretch over the length and breadth of the United States.

YOUTH IDEA IS SPREADING, SAYS DR. KOO

Leader of World's Student Federation to Address Conference at Bowen Island

Laying Foundation of International and Inter-racial Goodwill

Dr. Tsung Koo of Shanghai, vice-chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation and former delegate to the plenum conference at Geneva, arrived in Victoria to-day from Australasia and proceeded direct to Vancouver to address the student conference of the Pacific area now in session at Bowen Island, Howe Sound.

Dr. Koo was met at the Victoria station by Dean C. S. Quinlan, Rev. J. K. Unsworth and Professor E. S. Farr of Victoria College.

The distinguished Chinese visitor is en route to New York and Europe, but will stop off at Bowen Island to address the students on the work of the federation in the various countries of the world.

He had been identified in an honorary capacity with the Christian student movement for twenty years, and visited every country of importance where the organization flourishes.

Dr. Koo explained, embraced over 300,000 students in forty-two countries of the world.

He stated that the chief aim of the Federation was to link together the Christian students of the world to face in a co-operative way, the complicated inter-relations of life and develop international education by means of conferences and personal contacts.

Woman Declared Dead After Two Days of Doubt

Vancouver, June 18.—After considerable deliberation, medical authorities to-day declared Mrs. Anne C. Marshall of Vancouver dead.

For two days Mrs. Marshall had been in a hospital and physicians had been unable to determine whether she was dead or in a state of coma. Shortly before noon to-day they pronounced life extinct.

Mrs. Marshall called on a physician Monday evening and collapsed in his office.

SASKATCHEWAN AND ALBERTA GRAIN DISTRICTS HAVE RAIN

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 18.—Relief from the intense heat wave which for the last two days had sent the mercury above the century mark in several districts came early to-day with showers and heavy rains in Saskatchewan and Alberta areas. It was still abnormally warm to-day in Manitoba, but there was a slight drop in temperature as compared with yesterday.

From Edmonton came the promising report of the "weather book" in years. The day started at 8 o'clock yesterday evening and continued all through the night and the precipitation continued this forenoon.

After his clothing had been taken from him, he said, his hands were tied behind him and his feet were pulled up behind him and bound to his wrists.

Then, he related a hangman's noose was attached to a chandelier and he was jerked upward. The rope around his neck was new and to this he attributed the fact he was not killed. He said it stretched enough so he was able to swing himself around until he rested his weight on the altar.

About three hours later residents were attracted by his cries and released him.

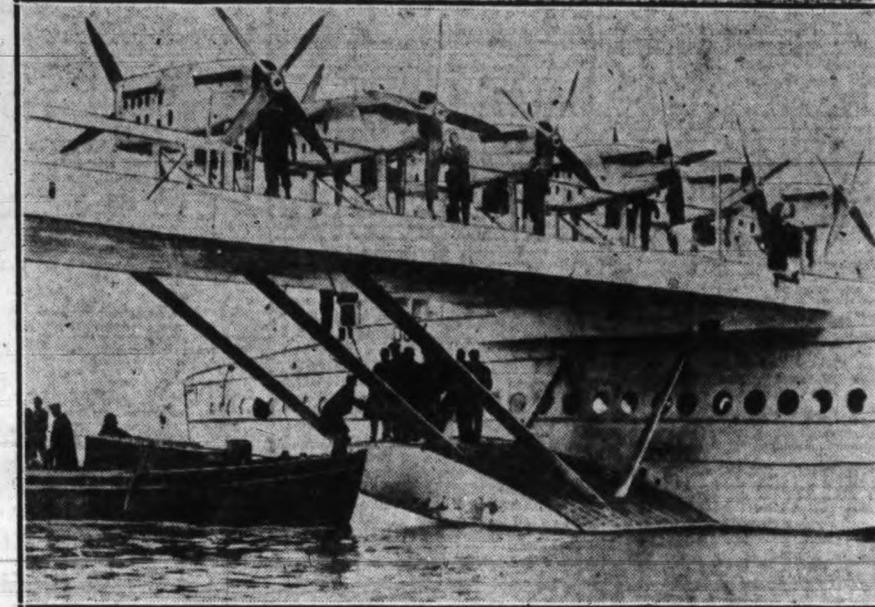

Brown, who occasionally preached in the church, reported to the police that he had been seized after midnight as he was going home from his work in the baggage department of a hotel. He said he had received numerous threats but had not been molested.

Herridge, Canada's New Minister, Welcomed On Arrival In Washington

To-morrow He Will Call on U.S. Secretary of State and Few Days Later Will Present Credentials to President Hoover

By KEN CLARK, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, June 18.—Hon. W. D. Herridge, new Canadian Minister to the United States, arrived here at 1:15 this afternoon.

He was met at the station by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, Hume Wrong, who has been Charge d'Affaires at the Canadian legation since the departure of Hon. Vincent Massey a year ago, by the entire secretariat of the Canadian legation, and by representatives of the Irish Free State and South African legations.

He presents his letters to President Hoover some time next week.

Major Herridge, in the eyes of the United States Government, remains a private citizen and in consequence no representative of the government was at the station to meet him. Since Mrs. Herridge, sister of the Prime Minister of Canada, did not accompany him, the minister, those who greeted him were not accompanied by their wives.

With Mr. Wrong the minister drove immediately to the legation, the presidential apartments of which will now be opened again.

TO TALK WITH STIMSON

Probably to-morrow Mr. Herridge will call on Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, and a few days later will present his letters to President Hoover.

Washington expects Mr. Herridge will have something definite to offer concerning the agreement between the St. Lawrence waterway, but whether the wish is father to the thought in this case remains to be seen. It is the general assumption the minister will discuss the St. Lawrence with officials during his stay here.

RUTH NICHOLS DAMAGES PLANE AND HALTS HOP

New York, June 18.—Ruth Nichols, society girl aviator, damaged her plane in landing at the Floyd Bennett airport to-day and as a result the first leg of her proposed transatlantic flight was postponed for several days. She had hoped to spend to-night at Portland, Maine, and proceed to-morrow to Harbor (now Newfoundland), there to stop off at the earliest favorable weather report for Paris.

times, particularly unemployment, is being effected by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Col. J. H. Woods of Calgary, president of the Dominion Chamber of Commerce, which includes in its membership 210 boards of trade, intimated in the course of an interview here to-day.

"I do not know of any better means of studying this problem, any better chance to get a comprehensive cross-section of the opinion of the whole country, than will be afforded at the annual conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Regina in September," he said.

WORK LAID OUT

Delegates would not go there with a vague idea of discussing certain subjects. They had been informed of their particular work and selected groups had been chosen to bring to the convention ideas which would be the result of a concentrated study of specific problems.

Mr. Woods explained how the executive of the organization had chosen appropriate groups of men for certain problems. Boards of trade at export centres would be asked to bring forward considered recommendations for the furtherance of foreign trade and cities of the wheat belt would be asked to come with conclusions on agriculture.

"The government is proceeding to get information on the unemployment problem," continued Col. Woods. "We are proceeding to get information, too. What the government learns, however, will be at our disposal, and the experience of our country-wide membership will be at the disposal of the government."

RICHES OF B.C. ASSURE PROSPERITY

Natural Resources Will Win Over-Present Troubles, Hon. J. W. Jones Says

Finance Minister Outlines Work in Address to Rotary Club To-day

The natural wealth of the province was looked upon by Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, as the medium to bringing British Columbia back to prosperity, he told the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day. With courage the people of the province would eventually develop these fundamental riches.

The crisis was not passed, he said in reference to the unemployment problem, hardly evident a year ago, saying something like $3,750,000 had been spent in dealing with the matter since October in British Columbia.

"We haven't solved the situation. It is more acute to-day than it was during the winter months. Something like 30,000 unemployed are in British Columbia at present," said Mr. Jones.

"A grave problem is facing all governments. The municipalities cannot care for the unemployed, so we do not care to talk about it," he said.

SOME HOPE SEEN
Some hope is seen in the fact the unemployed had not sought dues, but the minister said.

Before the last session requests had been received for $8,000,000 worth of highway work on Vancouver Island, while the mainland sought $15,000,000 for similar purposes. Against this, he said, the highest revenue British Columbia ever collected was a little over $27,000.

TOO MUCH JAZZ

"We are just waking up from the stock market crash, and although we may have sore heads, we are waking up," he said.

The minister reminded his hearers the province had been slipping behind in finances since 1919.

The gross public debt of the province at present was $130,000,000. But he was not pessimistic. With the splendid resources of B.C. and the courage of the people, this would be overcome.

The minister said the government had look after this contingency by having $5,000,000 annually. Among the non-revenue producing projects were the University of British Columbia and the P.O.E.

NO REDUCTION WANTED

Nobody wanted the hospital grants or mothers' pensions, which had been doubled in the last eight years, cut down. Similarly the old age pensions were increased.

All expenditures had to be met from revenues "had been knocked galley west," he said. Mr. Jones referred to the slashing of the estimates, paying tribute to his fellow ministers.

ONE PER CENT TAX

After seeking other means to balance revenues and expenditures he had been forced to impose a one per cent tax on incomes.

"At first I was assailed for the imposition, but now the criticism I hear is that it should have been five per cent," he said.

From the Orientals he expected to receive a large amount of revenue from the tax. The levy was expected to produce $2,000,000 net.

IMPREMSES FINANCIAL WORLD

"Public opinion has changed a great deal upon the tax. I believe the people of British Columbia realize the justness of the new tax," he said. He referred to the switch it had given the province in the financial world and cited the benefit that had accrued in connection with refunding loans of the province.

WHEAT SALES INQUIRY ENDS

A government body in Great Britain, with $428,000 going into the consolidated revenue fund of Canada.

BOTH SIDES FAIR

"I think you have been fair with me, and I have tried to be fair with you," said Mr. Whiteside. To a member of the committee he declared he had no intention of making any reports to the newspapers on his return to western Canada. That was the duty of the committee.

"I think you will find I shall be fair with you," he added.

The committee discharged Mr. Whiteside and gave him a vote of thanks for his appearance. The investigation on the question of Mr. Whiteside's charge—which was that he had made many millions of dollars out of the sale of the wheat crops in 1917-18 and 1918-19 which should have gone to the farmers—was then formally closed.

OPEN MARKET

A large number of related matters were traversed by the committee in the course of its investigation, started some weeks ago. An obstacle which was found difficult to surmount was a statement in a letter in 1921 from Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade, to Mr. Whiteside that in 1918 there was a period when wheat was sold in the open market. The committee strove diligently to find out just when that period was, and for what reason it lasted. But, with no success. Mr. Whiteside's contention was that for a space of three or four days the markets were open, but that in that time the Board of Grain supervisors sold no wheat whatever. Ordinarily the board sold at an agreed fixed price.

A suggestion by Mr. Whiteside yesterday that Sir George be required to make a statement to the effect that he was in error in this respect was withdrawn to-day by the plain farmer.

M.P. ASKS FOR MARLER REPORT

Ottawa, June 18.—The government will be asked to furnish the Commons with a report made by Hon. Herbert Marler, Minister to Japan, on trade opportunities in the Far East. J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, has given notice he will move for an order of the House requiring production of that report.

PETTY TACTICS IN HOUSE ARE CONDEMNED

C. R. McIntosh Advises Conservatives in the Commons to Avoid Trivialities

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—"There are enough big things to discuss in this House to keep us down to trivialities," said C. R. McIntosh, Member of Parliament, in continuing the debate on the budget in the Commons this afternoon.

"We haven't solved the situation. It is more acute to-day than it was during the winter months. Something like 30,000 unemployed are in British Columbia at present," said Mr. Jones.

"A grave problem is facing all governments. The municipalities cannot care for the unemployed, so we do not care to talk about it," he said.

With his own responsibilities he said to his colleagues, "I am not asking you to do practical things. We seek to do practical things. I believe that, outside of the work of the government, our organized efforts to the West Indies, to Great Britain, to the United States and South America, are the most potent factors in the development of Canada's foreign trade."

Mr. Wood is accompanied by W. G. McLean, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and by Col. J. H. Woods, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which includes in its membership 210 boards of trade, intimated in the course of an interview here to-day.

"I do not know of any better means of studying this problem, any better chance to get a comprehensive cross-section of the opinion of the whole country, than will be afforded at the annual conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Regina in September," he said.

BRITAIN GAINING ARGENTINE TRADE

U.S. Agent, Reporting on His Country's Position, Criticizes British Methods

Associated Press

Washington, June 18.—British trade propaganda in Argentina is described as "very effective" by a U.S. agent to the Argentine government.

Consul General George E. Dyer, who has been in Argentina since April, said C. R. McIntosh, Member of Parliament, in continuing the debate on the budget in the Commons this afternoon.

"The Indian, Martin Paul, was wanted for an alleged hold-up of Ming Moy, restaurant employee, who was robbed of $18 about a week ago.

Constables Jago and Miller both fired shots at the armed Indian, wounding him in the face.

Reports to-day indicate the accused man was progressing favorably.

Corporal O'Reilly of the Canadian Mounted Police conveyed the Indian to the hospital immediately after the shooting.

Sgt. Paul and George Baptiste are being held in connection with the case. The two were arrested by Sgt. Duncan of the provincial police, as it had been reported they also were armed.

The appearance of the plane at such a point could not be explained and efforts to find the machine were being made.

The Valencia wireless station reported receiving the following message from the steam trawler Craonne Beurieux:

"At 12:30 Greenwich meridian time (4:30 a.m. eastern time) at latitude 49° 44' north, longitude 105° 55' west, an airplane sighted about 225 miles east of Land's End, England, flying in an easterly direction.

Vanderbilt saw it and he became so incensed he got his gun and started for the Arno home. About half way over he came to his senses and returned home. He later found the gun was unloaded.

Mr. Vanderbilt left the house and it was occupied by Mr. Arno. This is the situation as it was presented to me.

Asked if there would be further developments in the serious quarrel between the two families, he said:

"I have nothing to say concerning that."

RUMOR DECLARED RIDICULOUS

Arno, whose cartoons have brought grins to readers of The New Yorker, arrived here to take up residence with his wife from the riding they were triumphant in the last election. During his stay here his name has been dripping with New Zealand butter. The government had destroyed the New Zealand preference to Canada, said Capt. Mackenzie. Instead of blasting his way into the markets of the world, he had been compelled to blast his way into the markets of Canada.

British Columbia had been injured by the abrogation of the order-in-council applying the Australian treaty to New Zealand. As far as trade with Canada was concerned, he hoped the government would be compelled to negotiate with France so the large the resolution expelling them said, "have for some time disturbed the peace of the brotherhood by their carpentry criticism and habits of fault finding with the officers of the union and the union itself."

Irvine, U.F.A. Member, Makes Unemployment Aid Suggestion to Commons

Ottawa, June 18.—The budget was not the proper place for the government to deal with unemployment, because it was impossible to tell how many millions would be needed for unemployment relief, said William Irvine, U.P.A., Wetaskiwin, in the budget debate in the House yesterday evening. "The government should recognize, however, that every person in Canada was entitled to food, clothing and shelter."

Depots should be established in all the large centres, he said, where every registered voter could go to obtain free food, fuel and clothing. This food should be the product of Canadian farms, the clothing should be made in Canadian factories and the fuel should be produced in Canadian mines.

CHARGE DECLARED NEEDED

There must be a fundamental change in the present system of taxation, if there is to be any relief from the present conditions, said Mr. Irvine. For that reason the Progressives had put forward in their sub-amendment a specific proposal designed to deal with that situation. The proposed temporary suspension of redressing—dominion notes in gold. There might be some question as to the tactics of this amendment. The Liberal leader had charged the Independent group with playing party politics. With that Mr. Irvine agreed, for Parliament was a party institution, and it was difficult to avoid party politics there as it was to fall into the sea and not get wet.

He suggested that in future the Independents should take a different policy. They should vote the House into committee of ways and means and then move their amendments on the particular budget items they disagreed with. He himself, favored the division of the tax on wheat, but he opposed the reduction of taxation on large incomes. He wanted to vote for one and against the other, but the present system demanded he should either vote for or against both.

CO-OPERATION PLAN

Mr. Irvine outlined world economics and the importance of the gold standard.

There should be co-operation in Canada when international co-operation could be secured or not.

Commanding the government for the five-cent duty on export wheat, Mr. Irvine said his proposal would not be cause it meant so much in itself but because it was an indication that in the future the farmers were to have some compensation for the maintenance of high tariffs for the benefit of the nation.

Mr. Irvine also commended the increases in the income tax, but found fault with the reduction of the tax on higher incomes and with the cheque tax.

WOODSWORTH SPEAKS

J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, expressed the hope the budget would be passed until the government had made provision for dealing with unemployment.

Possibly a federal loan would be necessary to carry on relief works.

"If we allow distress to go on unrelieved sooner or later we will have an explosion," predicted Mr. Woodsworth.

Mr. Woodsworth said there should be a conference on unemployment between the provinces and the Dominion.

GOLD BASIS

Suspension of the gold standard would be a proper means, said Mr. Woodsworth, of restoring prosperity.

This line of thought had been promulgated in recent authoritative pronouncements. In a recent encyclical, Pope Pius had declared every effort should be made to restore the proper proportion of the fruit of production should go to the capitalists. A resolution had lately been passed at a United Church conference in Toronto advocating a reorganization of the resources and manpower of Canada.

Tells Senate Legalized Lotteries Would Be Mistake; Senators' Views Divided

Ottawa, June 18.—A vigorous attack on the hospitals sweepstakes bill was made in the Senate yesterday by Sir George Foster, Conservative, from British Columbia, and Senator G. H. Barnard of Victoria, B.C., who would make it legal for hospitals to raise money by conducting sweepstakes with the sanction of the Attorney-General of any province.

Sir George concluded by moving the bill be given a second reading.

The debate on sweepstakes lasted most of the afternoon and was adjourned at 6 o'clock.

So-called party bills were entirely disregarded and the bill met with support and opposition on both sides of the chamber.

PEOPLE HAVE DUTY

The people owed a duty to look after their aged, poor and sick, Sir George said. They should not delegate that duty to a gambler's chance.

If the bill became law, Sir George declared, he could see no limits to which propaganda to sell lottery tickets might not extend. With such a bill made law, he thought it was possible such degenerating propaganda might result as would "eat out the honest heart of the people of Canada."

Referring to the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes, he called it "the great Irish industry." Everything was left to chance, and neither experience, skill, reason nor ability counted.

Senator A. B. Gillis, Conservative, Saskatchewan, said the majority of the people of Canada, to the tune of 90 per cent, were in favour of the bill, and had had a disastrous period of stock gambling and did not want a period of lottery gambling.

Senator J. H. G. Lacasse, Liberal, Ontario, thought Sir George Foster's argument would have been stronger if he had not all forms of gambling money lost in gambling would not have gone to charity. He favored the bill because it transferred further rights to the provinces.

Senator Robert Forke, Liberal-Progressive, Manitoba, was opposed to the bill and seconded Sir George Foster's motion to have it referred to a committee of the whole house.

Senator Dandurand felt the object of the bill was a worthy one, but he did not like the principle.

Senator P. Poirier, Conservative, New Brunswick, moved adjournment of the debate and the Senate rose until this afternoon.

MR. KING'S SPEECH

TWO OF THE MOST OUTSTANDING features of Mr. Mackenzie King's speech in the House of Commons on Tuesday were his proposals for dealing with unemployment in Canada and his contrast of the financial condition of the Dominion now with what it was when his government was in office. His proposals for the provision of work for the idle are the most constructive yet advanced, while his analysis of taxation and finances was shorn of any attempt to make political capital. He was merely stating official statistics as the new government's policy reveals them.

Mr. King's solution of the unemployment problem would involve the centralization of all relief work in Canada under a non-partisan board. He advocates at least two conferences, one between the Dominion and the provinces to settle the financial end of the scheme, and the other between representatives of industry, labor, the railways, and similar interests. Upon the latter conference he suggests the responsibility for selecting the board to administer the relief might be placed. Unless the whole problem of unemployment be tackled in some such practical form the leader of the opposition can see very little hope of improvement in existing conditions.

Unemployment is not a party matter, although Mr. Bennett promised to end it or perish in the attempt, any more than it is a problem that can be effectively dealt with on a piecemeal basis. No community in Canada has escaped the effect of the economic recession through which the whole world is passing; hence, it is a national emergency which demands the fullest possible co-operation by the business leaders of the country and all interests that in any way are in a position to assist in the establishment of a national unemployment relief policy. As Mr. King suggests, it is the first duty of the Dominion to meet the provinces and formulate financial plans for the guidance of the second conference, which he would charge with the duty of appointing the board to carry into effect such schemes as might be agreed upon. There could, of course, be no question of partizanship in body of this kind. Moreover, relief administered from a central organization, which would be in possession of information of conditions all over the country, would prevent overlapping and insure the greatest efficiency without waste of money. The government would be simplifying its own difficulties and giving practical relief by accepting Mr. King's proposal without delay.

It was Mr. King's duty as leader of the opposition to examine the financial condition of the country and point to such flaws in policy as he considers exist. A comparison was inevitable. He showed that in the fiscal year 1920-1921, the last twelve months the Conservatives were in office, the public debt was increased $92,000,000, while in the fiscal year 1929-1930, the last full year of his own administration, there existed a surplus of $45,000,000, with the public debt standing at $244,000,000 lower than when the Conservatives left office in 1921. Separating the cost of war and demobilization, during the eight years of the Conservative regime up to 1922, Mr. King told the House the deficit amounted to $126,000,000; but eight years of Liberal government had produced a total surplus of $273,000,000.

The leader of the opposition also reminded the House that in the last five years of his regime, taxation had been reduced at the rate of no less than $116,000,000 a year, the sales tax had been reduced from six per cent to one per cent, postage reduced from three cents to two cents, while practically all the nuisance taxes had been abolished. At the same time, Mr. King pointed out, his government had cut indirect taxes through lower tariffs. "We lowered tariffs," he said, "not through any hit or miss fashion, not in a wholesale manner, but after careful investigation and study." This was done to remove the burden from the people, and its total benefits were impossible to estimate. Another legacy which the late government had left to the Bennett ministry was a foreign trade account that in 1929 reached the highest figure on record, leaving Canada in fifth place among the nations in total world trade.

The picture as it is exposed to-day is of more than passing concern to the people of Canada. It is nearly eleven months since the present government at Ottawa took office. The budget brought down by Mr. Bennett revealed a deficit of nearly $100,000,000 and provided for fresh taxation to the extent of approximately $92,000,000. It also showed that the debt of the country had increased in the same period by $67,000,000. On top of this, instead of an expansion of trade, we bought and sold about $663,000,000 worth of goods less in the last twelve months than we did in the previous year, this representing a decrease in our business with the rest of the world of more than twenty-five per cent. The trade situation, moreover, is likely to grow worse instead of better, since in the place of the King government's policy of mutually-profitable commercial agreements with British and foreign countries, the present administration declared a tariff war that to date has provoked twenty of the seventy nations with which Canada does business to put up retaliatory tariff walls against the products of this country.

It will be seen, therefore, that the Canadian people are being called upon to pay more in taxation as a result of the policies of the new government, policies, too, which, if persisted in, will make necessary still further taxation at a later date, since Canada can not shut herself up in a water-tight compartment, trying to forget that other nations exist save merely to buy her goods, and avoid serious economic trouble.

ANOTHER "CRISIS" PASSED

GREAT BRITAIN THESE DAYS SEEKS to be running France a close second in the number of political crises she faces—and recovers from with apparently similar ease. It had been expected that on Tuesday the MacDonald government would meet its Waterloo through Liberal pressure of an amendment to the land tax measure. But no sooner had Sir Donald Maclean risen to move it, than the chairman of committee declared it to be out of order. He decided the amendment deal with reliefs from taxation, whereas the clause to which it was moved referred to assessments. The business does not end there, however, and further action may be taken when the appropriate clause comes up for discussion. But for the time being the "crisis" has passed.

An interesting feature of the business of the British House so far this week was the defeat of the government on Monday in connection with the finance bill by twenty-four votes, and its victory a few minutes afterward on a closure motion with a margin of fourteen votes. Mr. MacDonald did not consider the defeat involved a major consequence, and he, therefore, announced he would not resign.

How long the ministry will be able to depend upon Liberal support is problematical, although it is difficult to see how Mr. Lloyd George and his followers at this stage could hope to benefit from an arrangement with the Conservatives to vote Mr. MacDonald out on a major issue. An appeal to the people under present conditions would be a risky affair for the government. It probably would mean a Conservative victory, giving Mr. Baldwin complete control of the House, with Mr. Lloyd George and his present contingent, slightly more or less in numbers, practically in the discard. This would not suit Mr. MacDonald is aware of the fact. Hence, unless anything unforeseen happens, the prospect of an early election is somewhat remote.

CHANGING THE TUNE

IT IS SIGNIFICANT THAT DURING HIS speech in reply to Mr. Mackenzie King's criticism Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, blamed the late government, and not Sir Henry Thornton, for what he claimed were unwarranted expenditures on the Canadian National Railways. The implication of this is that the present government desires to dissociate itself from the sniping against the management of the national railways system which has been carried on during the present session of Parliament by several Conservative members of the House of Commons and the Senate, and which was putting the government in an invidious position before the country.

But where does the Minister's attitude leave those supporters of the government of which he is a member, inside and outside of Parliament, who have been campaigning against Sir Henry Thornton? What of the member for Muskoka, for instance, who wants to know all about Sir Henry Thornton's salary, but who never would dream of asking for particulars of the salary of the president of the C.P.R. for purposes of comparison? According to these Hussars the management of the Canadian National and not the late government is to blame because the railroad system has a heavy deficit like most railroads all over the world—while according to their Minister of Railways the late government and not the management of the Canadian National Railways should bear the responsibility.

From both angles all this is poor business. The attempt to make capital out of the exigencies of the national railroad system which have arisen from economic conditions from which every industrial interest throughout the world is suffering, is not likely to impress the Canadian public, particularly that element of the public which has been looking vainly for some proposals from the government for dealing with the problem of unemployment and the restoration of the economic prosperity of the country.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, is reported as saying in the House of Commons that the shadow government of 1925 authorized the construction of the Canadian National Hotel in Vancouver. Apparently, however, he forgot to explain that the "shadow government" was the government headed by Mr. Arthur Meighen, in which Hon. R. J. Manion himself was Postmaster-General. If the construction of the hotel was a piece of extravagance, Mr. Manion is one of the last men in the world who should criticize it, since he is one of the authors of it. It is a safe bet that Mr. Manion's colleague, Hon. H. H. Stevens, who also was a member of the government which authorized the construction of the hotel, will not attack the project.

LEARN FRENCH AND MORE FRENCH

The Ottawa Journal

Lord Bessborough's message to the boys of Ashbury College, "Learn French and more French," ought to be framed and hung up in every schoolroom in Canada, and in most of the homes as well.

His Excellency, has not been long in this country, but he has already been struck by one fact which finds clear illustration in the Senate and House of Commons, where, as he pointed out, "there is a far larger proportion of French-speaking representatives who can speak English than there are English-speaking Senators and members who can use the French tongue."

What is true in Senate and House is equally true outside them. It is lamentably true, as a matter of fact, right here in the Province of Quebec, where opportunities to learn French are innumerable and the obligation to speak it imposes itself every day that passes. Any one of us who fails to learn the native tongue of forty per cent of his fellow-Canadians is by that very fact less genuinely representative of Canada, less a citizen of the world in which he lives. "Learn French and more French" is a splendid motto for sixty per cent of Canada's population.

A THOUGHT

If they obey and serve him they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures.—Job xxvi. 11.

All the good of which humanity is capable is comprised in obedience.—J. Stuart Mill.

Loose Ends

Sir Arthur shares the view of this column—a dangerous experiment is proposed—some sporting gentlemen show poor sportsmanship—and Lady Mosley displays a pleasant toy.

By H. B. W.

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE, with gratifying candor, tells an American university that the trouble with the world is that the people in it don't know how to run it; and they don't know how because they haven't been taught how. The schools, says the principal of McGill University, teach everything but what the masses need to understand, namely the business of governing themselves.

I have seen saying that myself for a long time, but perhaps now that Sir Arthur has said it, someone besides him and me may believe it. Having accepted it as true, the next thing to inquire is why we don't teach men to govern themselves. I think you will find the answer in the case of Professor Herbert A. Miller, one of America's leading sociologists, who was dismissed from the faculty of Ohio State University the other day because he tried to teach young men something about governing themselves—he told the truth about public affairs as he saw it. And what the case of Professor Miller demonstrates is that we don't teach men to govern themselves because we are afraid to do it.

I SEE no prospect of any improvement in this direction, for several good reasons. What shall be taught in our schools is laid down by government, not by educators, not by thinkers. Experts may be consulted on textbooks and other details, but the general scope of education, the theories of life, of economics and of government which shall propagate are determined by practical politicians in the education departments of the world. Naturally they are not going to teach children how to govern themselves. If once such a study were permitted, the children would very quickly perceive the weakness of existing governments, and then where would the practical politicians of the education departments be? They would be among the unemployed!

EVEN IF governments which determine education policies were willing to take this chance, as some might, they are not going to allow children to be educated in the practical affairs of life. They don't, and the public doesn't want them to. For once you start such a programme no one knows where it is going to end. It immediately involves those practical issues of government, those current problems about which all men have different opinions and on which political parties are divided. If they are ever introduced into the schools, then, of course, governments will be accused of playing politics, teachers will be suspected of radicalism or reaction, and you will probably have chaos. So to equip children for governing themselves in a highly complicated industrialized age we teach them about the Wars of the Roses, and any teacher who dared to discuss the merits of a tariff or government ownership of public utilities would be dismissed instantly as a dangerous fanatic. We turn out a generation deeply learned in the conquest of Britain by Caesar in 55 B.C., but with no notion whatever of civilization's conquest by the machine in 1931 AD. And all because we can't agree on anything, because we are hopelessly ignorant ourselves, because we don't know how to teach our children to be better.

about a new substance, which is called a "death dew," and which is so powerful that a drop will kill thousands of people. In the next war, she said the quantity which could easily be carried in a lady's handbag would destroy a city of a million inhabitants. Civilization will prevent any disaster of that kind. And what will civilization do about it? Well, obviously, civilization, which has limited the construction of great battleships but is building up vast fleets of airplanes to destroy on land as well as sea will take similar stern measures with the death dew which can be carried in ladies' handbags. Acting on the same principle by which it limits battleships and builds air navies, civilization, of course, will decree the abolition of ladies' handbags.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF PLAN

Government Asks Federal Aid For Big Highway Construction Programme

Tentative plans for a large programme of highway construction to relieve unemployment have been submitted by the Provincial Government to Premier R. B. Bennett with a request for federal aid, it was announced yesterday by Premier Tolmie and Hon. K. W. Brahn, Minister of Public Works.

The province is prepared to start immediately on the work which anticipated construction requirements for two or three years providing federal assistance is given financially.

The work, it is stated, would take care of the unemployment situation in every district of the province, involving a total expenditure of government scheme to register the complete list of unemployed in the province at the present time, Premier Tolmie said, so that the undertaking would not be the signal of a great body of transients coming from other parts of Canada.

EXTENSIVE SCHEME

Extensive and development of the main trans-provincial highways and trunk roads is involved in the scheme, the detailed list being:

1. Continuation of the Big Bend Highway, as a central main artery from the Alberta border to Vancouver via the Kootenay, Selkirk and Cariboo mountains.

2. Extension of the Southern Interior Highway from Vancouver to the Crow's Nest Pass on the Alberta border, via Hope and Princeton.

3. Development of the Island Highway, serving as the main artery for Vancouver Island, also an extension of trans-provincial highways.

4. Continuation of the present highway up the North Thompson River, north of Kamloops towards Jasper, to link with Prince George.

5. Construction of a new route from Prince George to Jasper, on the Alberta boundary, and continuation of the main central interior highway westward towards Prince Rupert with Alberta through Jasper National Park.

The programme was drafted, it is understood, following the conference here Monday between Senator George Robertson, Federal Minister of Labour, and municipal representatives of the province, who informed the minister of conditions here.

FEDERAL AID NECESSARY

The essence of the programme is an advancement of the province's ordinary construction work for the next two or three years, but it was made quite clear that federal aid would be necessary before such a large scheme was undertaken.

All the jobless now registered at B.C. centres would be cared for under the plan. They would be drawn from the ranks of those who had to where the work was proceeding. In view of the large body of transients on the mainland federal help is essential, it is stated.

P.G.E. EXTENSION

Outside of the highway plan, the government also proposes extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which the federal government will undertake to construct an extension to the Peace River. The link constructed by the province will be from Quesnel to Prince George a distance of 83.4 miles via Cottonwood Canyon.

B.C. is definitely recommending to Ottawa the early consideration of an outlet to the Peace River. If some action is taken on this following the rail conference in Ottawa shortly, the Quesnel-Prince George link would be given serious thought here.

Making Plans For Esquimalt Picnic

Arrangements for a community picnic to be staged under the auspices of the Esquimalt Board of Trade at the Goldstream Hotel grounds on July 15 are nearing completion. It was announced by the committee in charge of the event at a special meeting held in the offices of Mr. Hutchison this week.

Plans are being made for a sports meet in the afternoon, prizes for which it is expected will be donated by the tradesmen of the municipality. Transportation is also being arranged.

R. J. Woods is chairman of the committee in charge of the event. Information on the picnic may be secured from him.

FRECKLES

Remove the Ugly Mask This Way

Only that freckle-mask keeps you from a lovely complexion. Get rid of those homely spots and your skin will look soft and fine instead of dry and harsh; clear, fresh and young instead of rusty, patchy and old.

What you need is Othine-double strength. After a few nights' use of this mask, you should find that even the worst freckles are disappearing while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It seldom takes more than an ounce jar of Othine to fade out those homely blemishes and restore the natural beauty of your skin.

Be sure to ask for Othine-double strength at any drug or department store. Money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and leave your complexion soft, clear and beautiful.

STUDENTS SHOW WORK OF YEAR

Displays at Lampson Street School Draw Large Crowd to Event

Examples of the handicraft and artistic abilities of the pupils of Lampson Street School were shown parents and friends of the institution yesterday at the annual display of work. Using more space than hitherto occupied, the different classes from the receiving group to entrance, were able to show a larger number of their exhibits than in former years and high commendation was given by 600 visitors.

From the simple plasticine models, paper cut-outs and elementary line drawings of the beginners to the more advanced work of higher grades, the art exhibits of the students were particularly outstanding. Each class displayed its products in its own room and great rivalry was seen between the different year groups in vying for the most impressive exhibits.

A fashion show by the girls of Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8, in which they paraded in the dresses they had made during the home economics periods during the year, drew wide attention, as did the display of manual training products by the boys of the same division. The girls' needlework was done under the direction of Mrs. Mabel MacKinnon, while the woodwork was carried out by the boys under S. P. Hanna. The latter included neat lamp stands, cedar chests, bookcases, foot stools and one fourteen-foot boat, all built by the students.

Numerous rhythmic characters in cut-outs were found in the elementary grade art section. Grade 2 showed similar figures along with simple designs and paper basketry. In this division a large doll house, furnished by the students, was particularly worthy of note.

A large lighthouse, manufactured by the pupils, featured the display of grade 3. Paper baskets and other useful objects were also included in this class's exhibits.

Project art work appeared in the fourth grade exhibit, also presented figures, the drawing of the cylinder, the making of capital letters and the application of design to decoration of given surfaces.

FEUDAL CASTLE

A feudal castle, with turrets, bastions and drawbridge complete, was a feature of the Sixth Grade room.

Where the display stressed project maps of North America, South America, Great Britain, the Great Lakes and eastern Europe. An industrial map of Great Britain showed the relating of geography and art work to first studies in economics. Design in this class had become advanced considerably, the drawings showing the utilization of familiar flowers and leaves for subjects.

An interesting map of Australia, with special reference to its products, ornamented the wall in Grade 7 room.

With the study of the cylinder was also displayed numerous examples of beautiful printing associated in mottoes and texts, with illuminated and colored design of advanced type.

WELCOME COMMITTEE

Principal H. W. Creelman and a committee of the teachers welcomed the visitors and conducted them over the building, among those present being Chairman A. Lockley and other members of the Elementary School Board, Trustees Mrs. Isabella Mrs. H. King, A. T. Farley and Major Compton. In the afternoon, tea was served in the assembly hall. Mrs. Creelman, Miss Ethel Morrison and Miss Knapett presiding at the table. Songs by Jimmie McVie added to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Royal Oak

The Young People's Club of Wilkinsons Road Union held a social evening at the home of Miss and Mr. W. J. Quick on Monday. A feature of the evening, which was pleasantly spent in games and contests, was a surprise linen shower on Miss Jean Faichney, whose marriage takes place next week. Those present were Rev. J. C. and Mrs. Sutler, Mrs. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. Condon, Jean and Bessie Faichney, Arthur Brydon, Elsie Fraser, Jessie Oliver, Evelyn Brooks, Eva Jones, Jean Fyatt, Grace Murray, Phyllis Alexander, Eva Phillips, G. Etheridge, Messrs. Charlie Miller, John Quayle, Neil Quayle, Fred Quayle and Brodie Quick.

James Bayne of Kelowna paid a short visit to his brother, Robert Brydon, Glanford Avenue, this week.

Langford

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morrow and the Misses Dorothy and Tootsie Morrow left on Tuesday for a tour in California.

The Langford Junior Boys played an exciting tennis match against six pupils of St. Albin's Boys' School. Play was very even but the Langford players proved victorious, beating their opponents by 5 games to 4. St. Albin's players were George Graham, John P. Ross, Howard Hincks, John Graham, Richard Harder and Peter Edwards.

The Langford boys were: Alan and Stanley Jackson, Howard Smedley, Oswald Hincks, Tom Dixon and Rex Jackson.

The last confirmation class will be held on Friday in St. Matthew's Church at 8 o'clock, following a choir practice at 7:30 o'clock.

LUXTON

A meeting of the residents of the Luxton and Happy Valley district was held in Luxton Hall on Monday evening to consider the advisability of alterations to the hall. A committee was formed to go into general details and report back to a future meeting as to the cost of such remodeling.

A public meeting will be held Monday evening June 29, for the purpose of receiving the report of the general committee regarding the remodeling of the hall and plan the methods to be employed to finance same.

NURSES BLAME HOSPITALS FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Ontario Premier Told Hospitals Getting Cheap Staffs With Pupil Nurses

Canadian Press
Toronto, Ont., June 18.—Headed by Miss S. A. Edge, R.N., a delegation including Miss Julia O'Connor, Miss Barbara Spencer, Miss Mary Walker, and Miss Margaret Macleod, all registered nurses representing the Central Registry of Graduate Nurses, waited on Premier Henry asking government assistance in alleviating the unemployment among nurses.

They presented the resolution passed at the annual meeting that "We, the Central Registry of Graduate Nurses of Ontario, petition Premier Henry and his cabinet to hear a delegation, the members of which consist of registered nurses, to do nursing duty. That such a delegation be appointed, that training, this to be applicable to city hospital nurses hard for three years without remuneration, and graduate them when they know that only sixty percent of those already graduated can find employment.

Mr. A. S. Cross of Vancouver is spending a few days in the city as the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Hon. S. L. Howe and Mrs. Howe Beach Drive.

Mr. Baird, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng., who has been attending a temperance conference at Toronto, is now visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Turnbull, 2219 Shakespeare Street.

Mr. F. W. Hartley and Mrs. J. Galt have returned to Victoria from Vancouver, where they have been the guests of Mrs. A. D. McRae for a few days.

Mr. A. E. Nash of Chicago arrived in Victoria to-day to appear before Miss Baird here as the guest of his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crawford, the Ambassador, Yates Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Carlson and Miss Betty Carlson of San Clemente, California, are visiting in Victoria as the guests of Mrs. Carlson's father, Mr. B. Gunnison, Quadra Street.

Miss Bertie Dixon has arrived in the city from Kamloops and will spend the summer here as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. Madden.

The many friends of Miss Mollie Hardy, R.N., of Seattle, formerly of Victoria, will be pleased to learn that she is convalescent after her recent serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynne E. Eland, formerly Mrs. Yvonne Graham, who have been spending a few days in Victoria as guests at the Empress Hotel, have left for Edmonton, where they will make their future home.

Guests registered at Brenta Lodge, Brentwood Bay, this week include Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnson, Mr. H. Moore and Mr. T. Bowden, Hollywood, Calif.; Mr. Harold Bryn Jofson, Hollywood, Calif.; Miss Dorothy V. Morrison, Seattle.

Parents of the pupils and friends are invited to attend these events.

Methodists Say Ministry Is Open to Women

Derby, Eng., June 18.—A joint committee of three Methodist churches—Wesleyan, Primitive and United Methodist—declared in a report yesterday that there is no function of the ordained ministry for which woman is in principle disqualified by her sex. The report was read at the Primitive Methodist conference here.

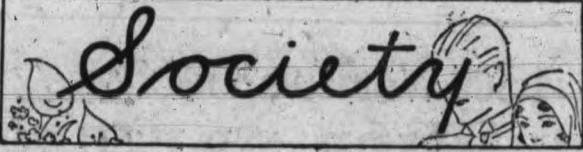

The committee recommended that after the conference of 1932 any woman who believes herself called be allowed to offer herself as candidate for the ministry. It also recommended to its official committee to recommend to its members to report to the conference of 1934 any woman interested in applying for ordination.

Mrs. Wilfrid Goddard of Banff, who has been residing in Victoria for a few days, is the newest member of the district. Mrs. T. A. Cairns, Niagara Street, en route home from spending a few weeks in Portand, will leave to-morrow for Banff.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Donald of Cheamainus, who came down to Victoria to attend the Goodland-Bryall wedding on Tuesday afternoon, returned to their home up the Island yesterday afternoon. The bride, a former Victoria girl, was the guest of their son and daughter-in-law, Lieut.-Commander C. D. Donald and Mrs. Donald, Constance Avenue, Esquimalt.

Under the auspices of the Mary Croft-Equivalent Chapter, I.O.D.E., silver tea will be held on Wednesday, June 24, at "Hillhaven," the residence of the regent, Mrs. C. P. Hill. Instrumental and vocal music will be given, the programme being arranged by Mrs. J. A. P. Crompton. Other attractions will be planned. The proceedings will be opened at 2:30. The object of the chapter at present is to raise funds to build a much-needed nursery at the Sunshine Camp as a memorial to the late Mrs. Croft, founder, and for many years regent of the chapter.

FARMERS' LIVING TOO PRECARIOUS WOMEN TOLD

Federated W.I. Told West Harder Than East in Depression Periods

Canadian Press
An enjoyable party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dauphin, 607 Montreal Street, on Saturday, June 19, in honor of Mr. J. Swanson of the St. Emma Alexander. The evening was spent in dancing, music being supplied by a four-piece orchestra. During the evening a buffet supper was served. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Flavelle, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, Mr. R. Bailey, Mrs. G. Glass, Mr. and Mrs. L. Jury, Messrs. S. Wright, J. Alder, T. Viggers, G. Brooks, J. Brooks, R. Owen, R. Jury and B. Jury.

Mr. E. Cross, Baker, Muskegum, George Road, recently returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon from eastern Canada where he has been visiting since her return to Canada on the Empress of Britain from a Mediterranean cruise.

Mr. Wilkinson-Broughouse, and Mr. P. Chapman of Vancouver, who are over to attend the Colwood race meet.

Mr. H. E. G. Carr entertained at a luncheon in Vancouver yesterday in honor of Mrs. E. G. Prior and Mrs. A. Flumerfelt of Victoria.

Professor Stanley claimed that not only was the farmer more dependent on accident than any other citizen, but he was the greatest disadvantaged when for lack of money the economic system was thrown out of gear.

PRESTON'S ADDRESS

"When hard times come to the east you have many resources upon which you can rely, but that is not the case in the west," said Mrs. W. F. Cameron, Regina, in her presidential address.

"The spirit of the west, however, is not broken by the late million dollar rainfall which is causing unprecedented wheat prices never seen in a bushel," declared Mrs. Cameron. Many western farmers were living at that rate, she said. It was not right, and it had to be stopped.

FRIAR WOMEN PRAISED

Mrs. Cameron referred to the attitude of the prairie woman to the hard times. They had stood up nobly and encouraged the folk in every way possible. She told about the development and benefit of the little theatre movement in the west. She urged on the women to think in terms of peace and not war and commended highly the way history was taught in Canada, the beauty of achievement rather than the glorification of war.

She had a word of praise, too, for the young people of today. "The women's institutes are standing behind the development of the rural women in Canada and doing everything possible to improve health and other community interests," said Mrs. Cameron. "We are handicapped for lack of funds, but could we not devise some plan to raise a reserve?"

TO HELP WEST

Dr. Helen McMurchy, Ottawa, another speaker, referred to crop and unemployment conditions in the west. She urged that all in comfortable homes in the east save and conserve farm produce which might be donated to the needy. Also that eastern members in the east in the drought-stricken areas of the west send them as much help as possible.

Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant education in Quebec, spoke on agricultural movements in education and was followed by a report on education and better schools given by the national convener, Miss Dora Baker, Truro, N.S.

DR. H. E. D. BAKER

The Junior Subdivision Catholic Women's League held their candy sale yesterday afternoon and evening in the auspices of the Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League in the house and grounds of the Christian Brothers' residence, Fernwood Road, was very well attended and a number of refreshments were served. The weather, however, was not so good, but the arrangements were made for serving tea and supper in the house, and several of the booths, fancy work, home cooking, the hope chest and fruit cake were displayed in the prettily decorated reception room and in the study. Delphiniums and snapdragons and foxgloves were used with artistic effect about the rooms and balcony, and general air of festivity prevailed.

Three Killed In Storm in Germany

Hagen, Germany, June 18.—Three persons were killed, and forty were injured, and property damage approaching $250,000 was done when a storm of tornado proportions struck between Herrieden and Holtzhausen yesterday evening.

Although the storm lasted less than five minutes it uprooted or demolished forty houses, toppled stone walls, damaged freight cars, destroyed orchards and flattened fifty acres of pine forests.

A tall storm smashed many windows and damaged orchards in the vicinity of Cologne.

Hospitals use Kotex

You know Kotex is safe. Hospitals use it—they bought millions of pads last year—what stronger proof of Kotex superiority could you have? Then why should you take chances? You might save a few pennies . . . but the risk is not worth while.

Kotex protects your comfort in every way, as well as your health. It is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding, a wonderful substance that absorbs moisture away from the surface, leaving it soft and delicate. The gauze which covers the cellucotton is specially treated to make it amazingly soft. Kotex is adjustable. Shaped to fit. Treated to deodorize.

KISSING AN INTERCHANGE OF MICROBES

But English Doctor Would Not Ban It on That Account

Canadian Press Cable
Rugby, England, June 18.—Dr. Josiah Oldfield thinks a pseudo-scientific ban on kissing is a fallacy. "A kiss does not create the scare-mongers' million microbes which, are said to be given with a kiss," Dr. Oldfield told members of the Women's Institutes meeting in London yesterday.

"If Jack kisses Jill and transfers to her a million microbes, he gets in return a million of hers, and from what we know of evolution the probability is that this exchange of microbes is beneficial."

The kiss was scientifically defined as "the result of two sets of cellular entities, which, after meeting each other, become harmoniously merged into a rich chord by contact." To keep its "previous standard" the kiss should combine the three ingredients of affection, respect and passion, Dr. Oldfield said.

Dr. Oldfield is a prominent advocate of a fruitarian diet. He was founder of the Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment.

MARLENE AND MARIA

Film company officials asked Marlene Dietrich not to talk so much about her little daughter. It was unfavorable publicity, they said, to call attention to the fact that the famous German movie star is married and has a five-year-old child. Here is her answer to the criticism. Miss Dietrich chose to pose for photographer with the daughter, whose name is Maria Sieber.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

IMPRESSABLE CHILD NEEDS CALM HOME ATMOSPHERE

How shall I make my child mind? How can I make my child respect me? How long should I keep my peace with other children? To be answered properly questions like that demand a volume and a whole system of daily living. In the confines of a short article it is impossible to even touch on the many things which need to be considered in establishing relationships between parents and other children. This daily column attempts to set down the standards which followed conscientiously, bringing about such results. The following letter from Mrs. J. W. is a case in point:

CHILD IS EXCITABLE, NERVOUS

"My sister's little girl, who is nearly five, is always complaining about her playmates. She is always carrying tales of the other boy, hit her, or some girl scratched her. She seems always looking for and remembering such things. She is very impressionable and plays happily with children until some upset. She cries and says 'I get mad.'

"She went to nursery school and seemed to think fighting terrible. She would be the first one to start it, others were, but if there was any disturbance she was irritable all afternoon. She has just heard about shooting lately, and goes around making up tales about killing people. My sister encourages her to make up fantastic stories, hoping she will get over her nervousness. She tells them with a sultry, unconvincing look. She doesn't sleep so much, but is in bed at the proper hours, has a basement full of toys, acts unconcerned when company is around; gets so excited and nervous. Why is she this way? What can my sister do? She'll sleep better, suggestion.

KEEP HER CALM, NOT SCARED

The following leaflets would be extremely helpful: "Schedule for Child of Pre-school Age," "Quarrelling," "Diet From Five to Eight Years," and "Obedience and Discipline." With your request for them send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

It appears from your letter that the child wants and demands excessive attention. She finds telling fantastic stories uninteresting. She likes the thrill of shocking you with her blood-curdling tales of murder.

She acts as though most only children when company is present. Finding the parent's attention diverted, she angles for it by acting up. Perhaps, if set some simple tasks related to entertaining the company, she would use her energies that way and not find it necessary to become emotional.

General instructions would follow the lines your sister is taking. Ignore her excitability. Find ways of interesting her in quiet games when she is upset by playing with children. Do not be anxious to protect her with your own excitability. Keep her at home when she is especially nervous. Talk to her calmly always and pretend to be unaware of her emotionalism. Only children have far more difficulty adjusting to playmates than those already adjusted to a family. Take this into consideration.

PHYSICIAN KILLED BY ELEVATOR

San Francisco, June 18.—Dr. Gino Vivaldo, assistant bacteriologist of the Department of Public Health in Rome was crushed to death here yesterday when he became entangled in the ropes of an old-fashioned freight elevator.

Witnesses said Dr. Vivaldo, trying to raise the lift, was caught in the rope mechanism and dragged into the shaft and crushed by the rising cage.

Bringing contrast to the programmatic were the six "spontaneous" recitals with specially composed music for violin and piano in the first three numbers, and piano alone in the remaining three artistically presented by Mrs. Guy Goddard. These were "There, Little Girl, Don't Cry," "Day Dreams," "Four Ducks on a Pond," and "An Old Romance." "In the Chest Upstairs," "The Owl and the Pussy Cat" much delight was also shown.

Miss Dumbleton acted as accompanist throughout with admirable insight and musical resources, playing the special music to Mrs. Goddard's recitations with much discrimination.

FORMER MISSION WORKER SPEAKS

The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met on Monday afternoon for their closing summer session. A large number of members and friends were present, including many representatives from sister societies.

Mrs. Harold Clark, of Vancouver, who was with her husband guest of Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell and Mrs. Luttrell, former associates for many years in missionary work in Honan, addressed the meeting.

Having recently returned from an extended tour of China the speaker presented to very attentive hearers the conditions of China to-day, political, social and religious. From her knowledge of Chinese language and the people Mrs. Clark spoke with clear understanding and authority, in a most interesting way. A standing vote of thanks was accorded the speaker.

An informal reception with cake and tea followed the close of the meeting. Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Dill of Toronto and Mrs. Gowans of Calgary. Much interest was shown in a display of work for hospitals and school homes, far exceeding the allocation.

STRING RECITAL MUCH ENJOYED

Irene Bick and Assisting Artists Please Audience at St. Margaret's

G.T.D.

A very interesting evening with string music was that of the recital arranged by Irene Bick, given at the St. Margaret's School Hall yesterday evening. The programs were devoted almost wholly to violin solos, duets, a quartet of four violins and a small ensemble of eight players, and throughout there was no mistaking the pleasure of those present in all that took place.

The first group comprised three numbers arranged for four violins with piano accompaniment, the "Andante," from Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony, an Air de Danse, Louie XII, "Amaryllis" (Ghys), and "La Chanson" (Lavigne) without accompaniment, played by Irene Bick, first violin; Ursula Aldous, second violin; Ursula Aldous, third violin; Edwina Hastings, fourth violin, and Ellen Dumbleton at the piano. In this there was infused a right spirit of ensemble, good string tone, and the pattern clear and unclouded. It was evidently much enjoyed.

MISS BICK

Miss Bick herself gave three solos, and more than repeated (she seemed in better form) her excellent performance of a few evenings ago emphasizing her natural musical gifts and violinistic accomplishments. Her tone was warm and vital, and her interpretations, combined with a sound technique, stamp her as a violinist of high aspiration and one of immediate repute.

Her solos were "Tempo di Minuetto" (Pugnani-Kreisler), "Melodie" from "Orpheus" (Gluck-Kreisler), "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelmi) recalled, in response to which she played daintily Gossé's eighteenth century "Minuet." Harry Brown also contributed a solo, "Etude Melodique" (Nolck), and showed good results in his studentship. He has a natural flair for the violin, and is sure to make use of it in his progress. He, too, responded with another number to his recall to the platform.

Other numbers were Stossel's "Suite Antigue" in four movements for two violins and piano, played by Irene Bick, Edwin Marshall, Ursula Aldous, Dumbleton, and the concluding string ensemble in Greig's "Holberg Suite." Preludes, Sarabande, Rigaudon, those taking part in this somewhat fascinating and typically Norwegian music being Irene Bick, Ursula Aldous, Faith Kenworthy, first violins; M. D. A. Darling, Elizabeth Bashford, second violins; Jenny Wilkinson, viola; J. H. Hinton, R. Cooper, cello; P. Hodder, double bass. This was capitally achieved and aroused much enthusiasm.

MRS. GODDARD

Percy Williams Meets Supreme Test at Los Angeles Friday

Vancouver Sprinter Reported in Fine Shape to Meet Wykoff

Williams Will Be on Short End of Odds When He Toes Mark

Bally-hoo Has Been Very Weak on Schmeling-Stribling Bout

PERCY WILLIAMS: Vancouver's great sprinter, and double winner at the last Olympic Games, faces another stiff test on Friday evening at Los Angeles, where he will run against Fred Wykoff, University of Southern California flyer, at the Olympic Stadium, in the feature event on the pre-Olympic meet. Williams has been in the southern metropolis for about a week getting in shape for the race, and according to reports is in first-class condition.

Although Williams, who carries the title of "The Canadian Comet," was the winner of both sprint races at the 1928 Olympiad, he will face a very difficult underdog against Wykoff. There are two reasons for this. In the first place Williams was beaten in Seattle recently by Bill Frisby, an unknown from the University of Wisconsin, and the time was ten seconds flat. Secondly, Wykoff has just won the two biggest U.S. intercollegiate 100-yard races of the year and on both occasions he negotiated the distance in 9.3-5 seconds.

Of course, Williams may be working the old psychological angle on his competitor. The fact cannot be denied that Williams was quite willing to meet Wykoff in a race, which he would not likely do if he figured to have an easy victory over the southern star. In the Seattle meet, Percy drove to the Sound City in his "flier," arriving only a few minutes before his race with Frisby. At any rate, Percy's fear of winning both dashes at the Olympic Games entitles him to plenty of respect, and it also must be remembered that Williams made a tour of the United States the following winter and defeated their best at their own distances.

Wykoff was fourth in the 100 metres at Amsterdam, being pased to the tape by Jack London, Great Britain, and George Lammers, Germany, in addition to Williams. Percy's time was 10.4-5 seconds, one second slower than the Olympic record. Vic Williams of the University of Southern California, after a work-out with Williams, said: "He looks good. Percy told me that he liked the track and expected the warm weather would put him in first-class shape."

The Los Angeles meet will be a gigantic affair. Douglas Fairbanks will act as master of ceremonies, and Mackie will officiate at the switch dedication of the new $50,000 lighting system to be used for the first time that night. The programme will open with a parade of all nations, similar to that officially opening the Olympic Games.

There will be several amateur boxing bouts, at which Jim Jeffries and Jess Willard will officiate. Ed Lewis and Joe Savoldi will referee the wrestling matches. Another feature will be a polo game with Will Rogers as referee.

Although the date of the "championship" bout between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling at Cleveland is less than a month away, there has not been anything like a bally-hoo the usual amount of bally-hoo that usually precedes a match of this nature. Only the mildest form of interest has been shown in the scrap, and it would not be surprising if the promoters took a look.

The winner will be recognized in some places as the world heavyweight champion, but in others, the bally-hoo ring shovellers would be willing to bet that Schmeling, who has blown more titles than anybody, could beat either Max or Willie. The Boston sailor has certainly not used the old boast in many of his fights, but it seems to be true, because of Dempsey on the verge of a knockout, and that he put Loughran to the cleaners. The Schmeling-Stribling bout, to a lot of folks, will be just another fight.

New York, June 18.—Richard Shukat, Philadelphia, and Kili Kwaranin, Russia, wrestled forty-eight minutes to a draw in the main event. Des Morris, who is one of the most popular wrestlers to appear in the city, was in the ring every day in Seattle in preparation for the bout here, and will be in the pink of condition by Saturday. Reed, a former Olympic Games champion, is to take his turn, but has yet to be defeated in the Pacific Northwest.

The Victoria Fire Department Band will be in attendance at the match.

PRAIRIES STILL LONG FOR RAIN

Grasshoppers Getting Busy; Insect Damage Also Worse in British Columbia

Ottawa, June 18.—Reviewing general crop conditions on the prairies and in British Columbia, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics crop report to-day says:

The rains of the past week, while fairly heavy, were not heavy enough to improve Manitoba crop conditions. In some localities, however, good rains were helpful in stopping damage from cutworms and soil-drifters. Heavy immediate rains would be a great benefit to all crops.

The important grain growing regions of Saskatchewan were not materially improved by the scattered rains of the past week. Predictions are made that the rains were distinctly local.

Some of the areas which have been subjected to the severest drought, such as Moose Jaw and Assinibina, received rains amounting to one inch or more, but the Reging plans had very little relief from the serious prevailing drought.

In some of the southern districts, however, rains came to recover from previous damage and over practically the whole southern and central regions the present promise is for sub-average yields. In northwestern areas the prospects are much better.

Cutworms have caused some damage in parts of the prairie localities and grasshoppers are beginning their depredations. Growth on pasture and hay lands is very sparse and the feed situation is serious.

ALBERTA MORE PROMISING

Alberta crops show more promise as a result of general and fairly heavy rains of the past week, but further precipitation will be needed to produce average yields of grain. The southern and central districts, which were in greatest need of moisture, received the heaviest rains with recordings approximating one inch at Foremost, Red Deer, Lacombe and Stettler.

Conditions in the Peace River district continue favorable. Over the whole province insect damage has not been nearly as serious as in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

In the past twenty-four hours there have been scattered, light showers in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The only report of hail during the week comes from Alberta, where the hail insurance board reports two small storms. The grain was not sufficiently advanced to incur damage.

B.C. CONDITIONS REPORTED

The dry, hot weather of early June in British Columbia has given way to a series of general and heavy rains, which greatly benefited grain, fodder and root crops, but caused some damage to the strawberry and early cherry crops, and interfered with the hay harvest. The prospects for the late fruit crops are good on Vancouver Island and the western mainland, but the rain has reduced the yield of the Okanagan Valley and further east. Insect damage is much more extensive than last year. In the Lake Windermere region the drought is particularly severe, causing short crops and poor range.

Diversion and Use
TAKES NOTICE that the British Columbia
Cement Company Limited whose address is Belmont House, Victoria, B.C., has applied for a permit to take up to fifty thousand gallons per day of water out of Lake in Lot 104, Malahat District, also known as the Lake at the outlet; also fifty thousand gallons per day of water out of Hollans Creek which flows into the Sannich Inlet about five chains south of Northeast corner of Lot 102, Malahat District. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about eleven feet from the mouth of Creek about five hundred feet above the water level of John's Creek which flows East and drains into Sannich Inlet about twenty-two miles from the mouth of Creek. The water is all case used for domestic and industrial purposes upon the Land described as Lots 73, 74, 75, 76, 95, 102, 118,

Man With Vigor And Vitality Reveals It In His Posture

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Everyone realizes the attractiveness of a human being who stands well, and who has in general good posture. The slouching arouses suspicion. The careless, lounging man who shuffles his feet and sneaks around in a hang-dog manner is a whipped man. It must not be thought, however, that the reason for this is the cause of his inefficiency or the result of it.
The two go together with a mutual interchange of forces.

Sometimes, indeed, not infrequently, bad posture is the result of bad diet, or exercise cannot compensate for the need of eyeglasses in a child whose eyes are not built right, so also can not advice and exercise compensate wholly for defective bones, muscles and ligaments.

A bone-setter-physician who studies such cases can provide supports or braces that act as a crutch to weakened tissues in the same way that eyeglasses compensate for anatomical changes in the eyes.

Sometimes the feeling of more calcium and phosphorus and the use of vitamin and sunlight will aid development of weakened tissues. Associated with this, proper exercise and practice will induce a suitable posture and an improved appearance.

The weakened tissues of children should not be compelled to carry heavy weights for long periods of time, as is the case when a rather weak child attempts to carry eight or ten books home from school day after day.

Physical exercise, also, will help to improve posture. The "body-tonic" exercise man thinks of tone with the words "vibrant, vigor and vitality". The person who has in him drive, impetus, or good, reflects this in his posture, in the way he walks, and indeed in his whole attitude toward life.

The position adopted when sleeping should be trusted, while the slinking, the one of complete relaxation of the muscles and ligaments so that the posture is good, is not necessarily the best. Proper posture is the result of proper support and physical development. Hence, teachers now try to get children to stand tall, to stretch out, to hold the chest forward, and the shoulders back.

As emphasized by Thurman B. Rice in his recent consideration of this subject in Hygeia, the upright man, the straightforward person can usually be trusted, while the slinking, the best. Proper posture is the result of

Revenue Pays Way

Vancouver, June 18.—Sir Kenneth Crossley, England, was elected president of the new Gold Mines Ltd., at the annual general meeting of shareholders held here. D. S. Wallbridge was appointed vice-president; W. G. Sturz, manager-treasurer, and O. C. Thompson, managing-director.

The board of directors elected for the ensuing year are E. B. Clegg, W. B. Pool, O. B. Allan, E. I. Smith and W. O. Rose.

In his report, the president stated that during the past year's operations special attention has been paid to developing the mine, but while the daily tonnage milled has been somewhat increased, the ore has been decreased.

Development has demonstrated the fact that a large percentage of the mining power was devoted to development and adding to the ore reserves. Another compressor has been added recently to give more air power.

Revenue from the present mill capacity has been proven adequate to take care of development, also buy new machinery and equipment and augment the cash reserves which at the end of April of this year amounted to $41,116 with no liabilities.

Development has demonstrated the ore shoots to be longer and wider as depth is attained. The ore shoots in the east 550 feet of the No. 3 level and practically all the shoots in No. 4 level consist of sulphide ore carrying gold values equal to the oxidized ore, of the more shallow depths. This is an encouraging geological factor, and indications are that the future of the Canadians and their children will be secure, possessing a great heritage. "If we display necessary enterprise and observe good faith with other peoples, Canada will be among the greatest commercial nations of the world," he concluded.

Col. S. Pearson, M.P.P., complimented the speaker and referred to the good work of the Chamber of Commerce and its 200,000 members.

Col. Pearson was accompanied by W. McI. Clark, Montreal, secretary, and six Victoria members.

The ship's company of H.M.S. Dracon, British light-cruiser, will be entertained by the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion at a smoking session Tuesday, June 22, in the club quarters, 625 Courtney Street. A special programme of entertainment is being prepared for the gathering which will assemble at 8 o'clock.

Because of technicalities over ball bonds, there was postponement again to-day before Judge Lampman of the opening of the appeal of W. E. Laming from the sentence of two months jail imposed by Magistrate Jay in connection with his relation to his wife. Efforts are being made to bring about a settlement of the case.

It is stated that Canada was on the threshold of her greatest development in the behaviour of the nation to allow trade and enterprise with regard to foreign trade. He made a plea for the coming conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, stating that all business men should co-operate in helping to provide pressing needs, particularly employment.

The speaker was very optimistic, stating that prosperity was in sight which would be forced on the country and Canadians would not be worthy of their ancestors if they waited for it. Progress, he said, comes from the conquest of ill-fortune. He referred to the one-and-a-half-hour conversation, last large deposits in the boreal mills which are practically running full time, and the common man's share in the profits of the industry.

Col. S. Pearson, M.P.P., complimented the speaker and referred to the good work of the Chamber of Commerce and its 200,000 members.

Col. Pearson was accompanied by W. McI. Clark, Montreal, secretary, and six Victoria members.

New Clauses In Code to Deal
With Doukhobors

Nelson, B.C., June 18.—The Department of Justice at Ottawa has in preparation new legislation based on information furnished by the West Kootenay member, W. K. Ealing, in relation to Doukhobors, according to a report received in Nelson from Ottawa yesterday evening. The bill will be introduced in the House of Commons in the community hall and churches, and an avowed and open defiance of Canadian laws, as well as the general offence to Canadian settlers by the Doukhobors.

The mill was brought to a high state of efficiency, the monthly cleanup showing an average of approximately 98.5 per cent of the gold.

To the end of April a total of 16,423 tons had been milled, yielding $257,952. From this the operating profit was $64,230 and from which was deducted $25,378 for development and $27,548 for depreciation and depletion. For the same period the average recovery for 1930 to April 30 was $17,97.

COUNCIL SESSION

Routine business occupied the City Council Monday night, practically the only item of importance discussed being that of unemployment. The mayor reported on the Victoria unemployment conference.

After some discussion a resolution was passed urging the government to proceed with the road to the Comox district via Cumberland Lake. Keith C. Wilkes, secretary of the Board of Trade, addressed the council, pointing out the advantages of such a road to business districts.

The High School principal reported on the amount of gravel at the city gravel pile, the report being adopted.

Earl Reid complained of alleged unfair treatment in the unemployment administration by H. H. Fowle, who was found to be Mr. Fowle's explanation fully satisfied the council.

CHICAGO WHEAT BREAKS TO RECORD NEW LOWS

Wheat prices in Chicago to-day tumbled to record new low prices for all options, thus fulfilling the unanimous forecasts of the experts made for the last two days to the effect that prices were on the verge of a new fall within a very few days.

As the experts had induced most of their clients who were long of wheat to unload early this week, many escaped the serious effect of to-day's fall.

Chicago wheat broke 1½ cents a bushel, Winnipeg wheat around 1½ cents a bushel and July efrn 1½ cents a bushel.

Feature in the grain world to-day is the Farm Board's attitude about its mountain of wheat held as a big stick over the markets of the world, intimidating European markets, playing into the hands of foreign importing nations and breeding discontent and disaster at home.

Saskatoon, June 18.—Donovan report to-day says that from Regina to Saskatoon, the first fifty miles of wheat is near a total failure and the remainder of the way very poor, with only a small portion still fair and the stubble in a portion of which larger than the usual percentage of acreage showed stunted and thin stand. But a healthy green color a few days ago is now showing large parts of brown in the fields. In all, the crop is rapidly shaping towards a lower yield per acre than any crop the three prairie provinces ever raised in the past.

"Between the bearish conditions in the southwest, with harvesting rapidly progressing northward and marketing of new wheat enlarging daily on the one hand and sensational bullish crop reports from the Canadian northwest on spring wheat, traders await developments." The Chicago Tribune to-day says.

"Continued failure of foreigners to enthuse on the buying side of either cash wheat or futures counts heavily against the market at the present time."

Washington, June 18.—The Farm Board will not pledge itself to withhold stabilization wheat from domestic markets for another year, it is asserted here.

The Board intends to pursue its policy announced March 23 of handling the wheat in such a way as to impose the minimum burden upon domestic and world prices, it was explained.

Weather report to-day is very heavy rains over Alberta and raining steadily at Calgary for eighteen hours. Rain started in Regina early this morning.

"Slow export trade, the impounding movement of winter wheat crop and lack of insurance that the big Farm Board holdings of wheat will be held off the market for a period of several months, serve to counteract the effect of the bullish crop news from the northwest." The Journal of Commerce to-day says.

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, June 18—Wheat: Extreme weakness in Chicago where prices broke 2¢, thereby causing Winnipeg to drop 1½ cents a bushel and our prices, after being very firm but somewhat erratic during the first part of the day, finally to decline more than 1¢. Another bearish feature was the fact that there had been practically no export business over night, sales being placed at about 25,000 bushels of Manitoba.

Good showers, from light to heavy, had been received over the western part of Saskatchewan and general throughout Alberta, while the forecast promises more rain and more severe storms in all three provinces. The weakness in the U.K. markets is due to increased hedging pressure from the winter wheat movement, and to statement from Washington that the movement of the wheat board is going to be large holding of old wheat, which is estimated to be around 300,000,000 bushels. If this report is true, whatever benefit is to be claimed for farmers by reason of Farm Board operations during the crop year ending will be wholly offset by reverse operations during the coming year.

Movement of new wheat is increasing steadily and in a week or so undoubtedly will be heavy and so far there is no indication of any big demand. Both July and September wheat sold down to new lows on the cash market.

Other "solid off" the "wymark" wheat prices. Cash demand was only fair, and while receipts are small, the market is influenced by action in other grains.

Rye—Were cash inquiries but trade mostly quiet.

N. Y. Market Analysis

The Wall Street Journal to-day says: "It is becoming more apparent each day that the several false starts made by the market toward higher levels have discouraged a public demand. Many commission houses report that clients have funds for speculating or investing, but are waiting for some incentive within the market itself before adopting the long side. Not only have these false starts discouraged outside buying, but they have encouraged some of the traders to put out new short lines."

"Any students of the market make the observation that, to-day, at present it is often possible to establish a base line from which a good upturn can be started later. However, it must be remembered that outside developments must be favorable in such circumstances."

"Wall Street is always looking for precedents upon which to judge the probable future. In this connection the point is being made by some interests that there has been no substantial reaction in the general list in the last ten years between the end of June and the beginning of September. The contention is that the market in the past has encountered dull summer conditions without any substantial reaction in the leading issues."

"Although sentiment among conservatives is that the market has not indicated any important change in trend with still favorable conditions on a stale and recommend the use of stops. Warnings against adopting the short side for the time being continue to come from these interests."

Her father shook his head wearyly. "I have explained why."

"No, I don't think you have. You're just giving me an excuse and apparently business comes before anything else."

"It does just now," MacBeth said it slowly. "I wish you could see it as I do, Bobbie. The money isn't just money and the loss of it wouldn't be just the payroll. It's a matter of keeping faith with the men. The money means home and food and clothing for all these men and they depend on us to deliver it to them on the day we promised. I can remember when you were a wee thing, Bobbie, how much my weekly wage meant to your mother and to me."

He had used the little old pet name that had been given her as a baby, but it did not soften Roberta. She stood silent, regarding him, her mind full of the many songs for some papa that would make him listen. She knew now, by the look in her father's eyes, that it was hopeless. She must either take this thing that could lead her nothing to do with a man she didn't know, or be prepared for flight. She might yet be prepared for flight. She might have to come to it some day and soon.

She lifted her eyes and saw the blue car still stationary. She raised her arm and waved twice over her shoulder, the signal she had both agreed upon as "Wait for me," and then turned to her father. "I'll go and break the engagement then. But I shan't forget, father. You owe me something for that."

She was gone before Robert MacBeth could say anything, and the next minute was running down the beach to the bridge.

By the blue car a very angry young man stood waiting. She raised her arm and waved twice over her shoulder, the signal she had both agreed upon as "Wait for me," and then turned to her father. "I'll go and break the engagement then. But I shan't forget, father. You owe me something for that."

The girl looked at him speechless a moment and yet she did not go. He went on, wondering he suddenly said the answer to his question. The blue car was some little way ahead of him, on the tree-shaded cross road to the highway, and its owner was struggling frantically to start it.

That was why she thought he was speaking what he said she would not, if she could help it, leave him alone.

He continued to walk toward the man, who ever he was, might hear. "Surely you don't want to annoy your father and make him question what you do?"

As for the blue car and its owner, he continued, "It is hardly my affair."

The man at the car jerked his head up and nodded to the girl and then quickly turned his back and busied himself with the car again.

Sir George remained for a moment. Surely any decent sort would be likely to come over and speak—make it easy for the girl to introduce him. The man, however, after that one look hurried back to the car, his face resolutely turned from Sir George, who had come out of the bushes at the other, slowly turned and went toward her father's house.

Sir George walked away past the weasel, so as to avoid meeting with him. He stood dead in the middle of the road for a moment as the solution occurred to him. It must have been that he was afraid, since he had seen Sir George first, of recognition. Then the fellow must be scared, with the weasel looking at him.

"What bank and why do you have to take him?"

"It's the village bank, and I don't know why except—oh, yes, I do. Father wants them to know him so that he can get a sequel and so forth."

"Well, I'm afraid he's got to do that. If not, it's not his affair."

The man at the car jerked his head up and nodded to the girl and then quickly turned his back and busied himself with the car again.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Must the Wife Who Can Make More Money Than Her Husband Stop Working to Please Her Relatives? Weak Mother Whose Children Rule Her

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I married a man at twenty-five after six years in business in which I was very successful. I had four babies in six years, so I was absolutely dependent on my husband, but he was unable to make even a plain living for us. He is a splendid man, with the finest character I have ever known. He is intelligent, unselfish, kindly and good, and I love him dearly for qualities that have nothing to do with money. He is also industrious and willing to work, but he just lacks the aggressiveness, the initiative and the push that make success.

Finally, in desperation, I went back to my old job and found that my experience as wife and mother had increased my business facility and I am now making an income that any man might be proud of. We have a nice home, two cars, the children are in a fine school, we are prosperous and happy and my husband and I are perfectly satisfied with the arrangement and with each other. But the members of our mutual families and our friends take the attitude that it is my overwhelming ambition which has left my husband in the backwaters of business, and that if I would give up my work he would beat him more. But I know he does the best he can and that it just isn't in him to be a go-getter. What BUSINESS WIFE?

Answer—Quit listening to your meddling relatives and friends. You have done the only right and sane thing under the circumstances, and the thing that thousands of women will do in the future when we become intelligent enough to see that the head of the family should be the one to whom God gives the brains and the power, instead of being the one who wears the breeches.

We are accustomed to thinking that every man is a sort of financial genius and that every woman is a fool about money and needs to be pennied doled out to her, but there is nothing in fact that justifies this superstition. Not every man is a money-getter, and very often a woman is just a natural-born trader. There are innumerable cases in which the wife has better judgment, more insight and business acumen than the husband. There are many women who are better salesmen than their husbands are. They have a flair for business which their husbands lack. All of us know cases in which a widow has taken her husband's moribund business and made a great success of it.

No need we be surprised at this since heredity zigzags from father to daughter and mother to son, and many a daughter of a shrewd business man gets his talent for money-making and could duplicate his success if she had the chance.

So when the grey mare is the better horse, financially speaking, why shouldn't she help pull the load? After all, the children are her children. Just as much as they are her husband's, and it means just as much to her as it does to him, that they should be properly fed and clothed and educated. And if he can't do it, certainly it is up to her to do it.

The general idea seems to be that when a woman works it slows her husband down. Perhaps this does happen sometimes, but the kind of man who would knock off work because his wife had become a money-earner would be the sort who would lie down on the job of supporting his family, anyway, and leave some relative or the Community Chest to do it.

But there are plenty of men who cannot, alone and unaided, support a family in comfort, not because they are lazy or shiftless, but simply because Nature gave them small earning capacity. They can never do the kind of work that commands a high salary. They are not those who have the vision that sees opportunity afar off. They have not the hunches that lead to fortune, and they are no more to be blamed for this than they are to be blamed for not having tenor voices or Greek profiles.

Many a man loves and cherishes a wife who is inefficient, who never learns how to keep house or how to sew or how to buy shrewdly, but who is sweet and amiable and affectionate and interesting. Why may not a woman equally love and be equally willing to support a husband who is not a money-maker, but who is tender and affectionate and pleasant to live with?

The old idea that a woman ruined her husband by becoming a money-earner is silly in this modern day. Oftener than not she saves the family. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a good husband and three children and we are sufficiently well-to-do. My problem is my children. I have a boy of eight and another one of five and a girl of four, and they are beyond my control. They are always fighting and sometimes the boy bites his little sister until she carries the mark for weeks. They get on my nerves so that sometimes I whip him too severely. They make my life unbearable and I have aged ten years within the last year. The children don't eat well. Would that be the cause? My children are normal and are clever and good looking.

A HEARTBROKEN MOTHER.

Answer—Any woman who admits that children as young as yours are beyond her control should be ashamed of herself, because she confesses that she has used no system nor intelligence nor firmness in rearing them.

Evidently you have spoiled your children from the time they were born. You have established no regular system for their eating and sleeping, and have never taught them to respect any laws, and that is the reason that they now defy you and behave like little savages.

The best thing that you can do now is to get a woman who is a trained nurse for children to come and take charge of them for a couple of months. Turn them over to her completely and she will give them the discipline that you have been too weak to give them, and that they will take from her without question because she is a stranger. And don't interfere with her methods in any respect. Don't let them appeal to you.

DOROTHY DIX.

"I didn't know it was loaded!" How often is this statement made by boys who have accidentally shot one of their playmates or friends?

There was a time when I was barely prevented from firing what might have been a fatal shot. I was about eight years old. An older boy had come to my yard, on his way to hunt in the woods. He laid his rifle down while he was talking with me. I saw a gun barrel and looked it over. Then I put it to my shoulder, and aimed it at one of my brothers. I did not dream that the boy had loaded it before reaching the woods.

I cocked the gun and was making ready to press the trigger when the boy who owned it called to me sharply to let it alone. I did as I was told and pulled the trigger, so the bullet would be the same when I reloaded it. Since the bullet was a good one, the fellow is: "Never point a gun at any man, no matter how harmless or how 'empty' it may be, at any 'human being.'

Perhaps the least dangerous method of carrying loaded shotgun.

It's a good idea to follow is: "Never point a gun at any man, no matter how harmless or how 'empty' it may be, at any 'human being.'

MONOWAI MAKES FAST PASSAGE FROM HONOLULU

Does Voyage in Five Days, Nine and a Half Hours to Beat Motorship Aorangi

Brought in 282 Passengers From South Seas of Whom 150 Disembarked Here

Making the fastest voyage between Honolulu and Victoria for ships of her fleet, the liner Monowai docked at Bithet piers this morning just before noon from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu. She was five days nine hours and thirty minutes from Diamond Head to Race Rocks, Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown, master of the ship, reported upon arrival here.

Had it not been for the entry of the liners Empress of Japan and Empress of Canada into this route a few months ago the Monowai would have had the blue ribbon for speed for this lap of a transpacific voyage. The Empress liners both did the voyage in less than five days.

The Monowai left Honolulu last Friday evening at 10 o'clock and arrived off Race Rocks this morning at 10 o'clock. The weather was a bit choppy during the way up, but the ship ploughed through the waves at a fine clip and docked here twenty-four hours ahead of schedule. She will be here this morning on her first voyage. She is taking the place of the motorship Aorangi, which is now in dry-dock in Sydney for annual overhaul.

NAUTILUS TOW LINE BREAKS

Fittings on Submarine's Stem Torn Away; U.S.S. Wyoming Towing Wilkins's Craft

Washington, June 18.—The submarine Nautilus was about 570 miles off Queenstown, Ireland, Tuesday evening, making eight knots in good weather.

Captain Benjamin Ditton Jr., commanding officer of the United States battle ship Wyoming, who had been repairing fittings on the stem of the submarine, reported that early yesterday the tow line broke, carrying away fittings on the stem of the submarine. The line was repaired and made fast on the craft's bow. Captain Ditton said that he did not believe the line would hold unless the port engine of the submarine continued to function.

Canadian Winner To Berth in Morning

Delayed slightly coming up the coast, it will be 7 o'clock tomorrow morning before the Canadian National passenger Canadian Winner docks here from Montreal and Quebec, Capt. D. McLeod, skipper of the big freighter this morning advised the local C.N.R. freight office by wireless.

The ship will dock at the Ogden point piers and will probably be here most of the day discharging cargo. She has 400 tons of general for this port, which is about 1,000 miles from the command of the Monowai, said Capt. Spring-Brown, who will be in future have command of the Aorangi.

Capt. Crawford has been ill for two weeks. A few months ago he made a voyage here but took sick and left the ship. As he was approaching the age for retirement, he was given the job of commanding the ship again two weeks ago. Capt. Brown said he is slowly improving and a continued rest will entirely restore him.

Capt. Brown has been relief master of both the Niagara and the Aorangi. When the Aorangi leaves Sydney the Monowai he will learn that ship there and transfer to the captain's cabin of the Aorangi. He will next be here aboard the big motorship on Aug. 14.

Bound for Vancouver and Seattle, the N.Y.K. motor liner Hiye Maru is fast approaching the shores of the West Coast of Vancouver Island from ports in China and Japan. She is due at William Head, quarantine station early next Monday morning.

There are 129 passengers in all aboard the Hiye Maru this voyage. Of these forty-six are for Vancouver and eighty-three for Seattle. They are made up of 120 first cabin passengers, thirty-seven tourist cabin and seventy-four steerage.

For Vancouver the liner has 1,000 tons of cargo, including a valuable shipment of raw silk for fast shipment to the east. About twenty tons of general freight, however, will be transported here by regular steamer.

Spick and span after her annual general overhaul at the Yarrow plant in Esquimalt harbor, the C.P.R. ferry steamer Princess will commence her summer service between Victoria and Sidney and Stevenson, June 15. She will make two round trips daily, including Sundays, and will operate until early in September. This route was made popular three years ago, and since that time thousands of motorists have used it as a convenience one between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

On this year's schedule the Motor Princess will leave Sidney at 8:45 a.m.; arrive at Stevenson at 11:45 a.m.; leaves Stevenson 12:30 p.m.; arrive Sidney 3:30 p.m.; leaves Sidney 4 p.m.; arrives Stevenson 6:45 p.m.; leave Stevenson 7:15 p.m. and arrive Sidney for the night at 10:15 p.m.
